

biography

noun

An account of a person's life and character, written by another.

providence

noun

The overruling hand of God that directs individuals, nations, and nature for the gospel
and His good purpose.

naive

adjective

Lacking worldly experience or informed judgment;
trusting others or believing things too easily.

philomath

noun

One who loves learning;
a scholar.

prove

verb

To put to the test;
to try by suffering or encountering great difficulty.

apprentice

noun

One bound by a contract for a specified time
to learn the art, mystery,
or occupation of a master.

diligent

adjective

Constant in effort
to accomplish a goal;
not idle; industrious.

appointed

adjective

Fixed or established
by order or decree.

hope

noun

Trust or confident expectation of good based on God's promises and unchangeable character.

comfort

verb

To console or cheer
from depression or trouble.

liberty

noun

The power of free choice involving the body, will, or mind;
freedom from restraint
and control by another.

learn

verb

1. To acquire knowledge, ideas, or skills of something before unknown.
2. To teach.

accuracy

noun

Exact conformity to truth;
freedom from mistakes;
correctness.

selfless

adjective

Showing unselfish concern for the welfare of others.

love

verb

To have benevolence
or good will for another.

mathematics

noun

The science of quantity;
that which deals with magnitude and number, or whatever can be measured or numbered.

peace

noun

1. Freedom from agitation, as in the mind; a state of tranquility.
2. The absence of war or hostilities.

promote

verb

- 1. To advance; to encourage.
- 2. To exalt in rank or honor.

work ethic

noun

A belief in the moral value
of hard work and diligence, as unto the Lord.

equip

verb

To supply with necessities such as tools and provisions;
to furnish with the qualities needed for performance.

encourage

verb

To inspire with courage, spirit,
or strength of mind;
to increase confidence of success.

preparation

noun

The state of being in readiness to complete a particular purpose.

leader

noun

1. One in authority, who governs and directs others by showing the way.
2. One who serves others.

enterprise

noun

A purposeful and often risky undertaking that requires initiative and boldness.